Look a little deeper.

Sometimes what feels like today's challenge has deeper roots.

The beliefs that guide our choices are formed all along the way: in childhood, in relationships, through loss, success and life's turning points. Some still serve us. Others were simply the best we knew how, given our age, environment and circumstances at the time. In Inner Work, we gently revisit the moments that shaped you and draw out the wisdom they hold, reviewing them rather than reliving them. As we do, the emotional charge they once carried has the opportunity to soften. You can witness the past from a gentle distance, with compassion and understanding, and step into the present with a new sense of freedom.

From there, new ways of thinking can take root. Each time you choose a new thought or response, you begin creating a new pathway, and with every repetition, it grows clearer and easier to follow. Neuroscientist Donald Hebb described this process, often summarized as neurons that fire together, wire together. What once took courage now begins to feel natural, and with each step, you grow into the person you are Becoming.

You get to choose again.

HOW WE WORK TOGETHER

Grounded in research. Space to Grow.

Your courage to reach out is where it all begins. Our evidence-informed work draws on coaching, hypnotherapy, Rapid Transformational Therapy®, somatic practices, IFS-informed parts work and neuroscience. Together, we explore how your thoughts, emotions, beliefs and past experiences may shape the way you see yourself and move through life. Every part of you is welcome here, met with curiosity and compassion, so new understanding and new choices can emerge.

This is identity-level work. It reaches beyond surface change to the core of who you are and how you meet the world. As you discover your own agency over your patterns and habits, the insights and tools you gain become yours to keep, so you move forward feeling empowered, with change designed to last.

Continues on the next slide with the six practices, a credentials line and the closing line.

Coaching	gives you clear goals, practical tools and support to put new insights into action.
Hypnotherapy	guides you into a deeply relaxed, focused state, where new thoughts and habits can take root more easily.
Rapid Transformational Therapy® (RTT®)	uses hypnosis to reach the subconscious mind, where many patterns and beliefs are formed, and helps you understand and reframe them.
Somatic practices	help you notice where emotions live in the body and build a greater sense of calm and steadiness.
IFS-informed parts work	helps you get to know the different parts of yourself with kindness and understanding.
Neuroscience	explains how the brain forms habits and creates new pathways, so the changes you make can last.

I am certified through The School of Rapid Transformational Therapy®, with ongoing study through The Embody Lab and the IFS Institute, and nearly three decades of listening to people's stories.

Knowing yourself is where Becoming begins.
